

Practical Seminar with Consors Bank

Outline:

During the summer term, we will be able to offer a practical seminar with the Consors Bank. Students will play the role of a bank economist and evaluate data (e.g. provided by the bank). The idea is to combine scientific methods and practical relevance.

Time Line:

We will meet with the Consors Bank in mid-February and discuss potential topics. Thus, we need to know by the end of January how the pool of interested students looks like. As this is a pilot project, we will have to be selective.

Expression of Interest:

Please send us a brief expression of interest (deadline: 31st of January) to christian.merkl@fau.de

We need to know the following things:

- Curriculum Vitae and grades
- Data expertise / software knowledge
- Motivation
- How good is your German?
- Further things that could be of relevance

Please also indicate whether you are interested in regular seminar (without practical partner).
